Retail Sales Here Total $115 Million

Over $17 Million Increase Reported In City During '76

Retail sales in Calloway County increased to $115 million in 1976 reflecting an average increase of approximately 10 per cent over 1975 in nine business categories included in the Murray Chamber of Commerce's annual Business Barometer, released today.

Retail sales in the city of Murray alone increased by over $17 million from 1975 to 1976, jumping from $88,164,000 in 1975 to $105,589,000 last year.

Total retail sales for Calloway County, according to the barometer, amounted to $114,901,000 during 1976. Projected sales for 1977 in the county as a whole amount to $126,437,000. The projection for Murray is $117,125,000 for the current year.

Assets of local financial institutions increased by almost $18 million during 1976, from $138,943,000 to $156,776,000.

Postal receipts surpassed the previous record of $609,563 set in 1974 by more than $200,000 in 1976. Those receipts, which fell to $605,457 in 1975, leaped to $810,000 during 1976.

Cleo Sykes, assistant postmaster at the Murray office, said that a portion of the increase in receipts could be attributed to the increase in postal rates that went into effect last year but that a greater portion was due to an increase in mail volume at the local level.

The nine business categories broken down by types of businesses, averaged 10 per cent increases in sales from 1975 to 1976. Jim Johnson, executive secretary of the chamber, who compiled the barometer, said the total retail sales increase amounted to 10.2 per cent.

Comparing this to the rate of inflation of 5.2 per cent for the year, Johnson said, "local retail businesses experienced a net gain of 5 per cent."

Lumber and hardware dealers' sales increased by $1,031,000, from $10,316,000 to $11,347,000 during the year. The 52 food stores included in the survey showed increased sales from $25,597,000 to $28,156,000, an increase of over $2.5 million.

Eleven general merchandise stores reported increased sales of $1.1 million, from $11,004,000 in 1975 to $12,104,000 in 1976. Retail auto sales within the county increased from $34,320,000 in 1975 to $37,752,000 in 1976.

Gasoline dealers showed increased sales of $894,000, up to $9,837,000 while apparel stores reflected an increase of $585,000, to $6,442,000 for 1976.

Furniture dealers increased their sales from $6,454,000 to $7,099,000; eat and drink outlets increased from $8,111,000 to $8,951,000; and drug stores were up from $4,299,000 to $4,749,000.

The barometer estimate of population in the county for 1977 is 31,983. Population in the city is 31,983.

Hospital Board Discusses Financing Of New Building

The Murray-Calloway County Hospital's board of commissioners took action at a special meeting Tuesday on financing for a proposed medical office building in anticipation of a meeting next week with a representative of the Farmers Home Administration.

Hospital Administrator Stuart Poston told the board that FHA financing of the project could be obtained at five per cent interest. He added that normal procedures for obtaining an FHA loan would probably delay the start of the new building until the spring of 1978. He said construction could possibly start as early as May of this year if a conventional commercial loan were obtained, but that the interest rate on that type loan would range from nine to nine-and-one-half per cent.

The board discussed the possibility of changing the original plan from a three story building to a two-story building, or of building the three-story structure but only "shelling-in" the upper floor until such time as it would be needed.

Easter Seal Drive To Be Kicked Off

George M. Huddleston, regional director of the Kentucky Easter Seal Society, will kick off this year's drive in Calloway County.

Huddleston will be guest speaker Thursday at the Murray Rotary Club.

He is a past president of Rotary and has served the Easter Seals program for a number of years.

The state-wide Easter Seal Campaign began March 3 and will run through April 10. Chairman of the Calloway County drive is Vernon Gantt, associate professor of speech at Murray State University.

Gantt said today that all principle volunteer positions have been filled and the county campaign is in the final stages of development.

Contributions to the campaign will be used by the Society to provide care and treatment for physically handicapped children and adults throughout the state. All donations made during the campaign will be credited to the county, according to Gantt.

The goal of this year's campaign is the 1977 campaign, the most successful ever, Gantt said.

Telephone Books To Be Delivered

Murray telephone users will find some welcome changes in their 1977 telephone directory when it's delivered this week, according to Wafford Sautel, local South Central Bell manager.

Murray telephone numbers will be the first listings in the white pages, and the telephone directory will have four columns to a page instead of five.

"Since we began publishing the Purchase Area directory in 1975, we've had several comments from our customers about how the book could be improved to serve the communities," Sautel said. "The changes we're making in the 1977 Purchase Area directory are a result of those comments," he said.

After Murray's telephone numbers, other Purchase Area communities will be listed alphabetically.

"All Murray telephone directories should be delivered by March 16. If you don't receive yours, call the telephone company's business office."

City School Board To Meet

The Murray City School Board will meet in regular session Thursday at seven p.m. at the board office.

An agenda released today by Supt. Fred Schultz listed several items for consideration, including recognition of Principal Reeves for the discussion of a proposed trip to Washington by the senior American government class; approval of contracts for base bids on the Middle School renovation and consideration of alternates; consideration of textbook committee recommendation; suggested revision of school calendar for 1976-77; recommendation to purchase one school bus for delivery next fall; and personnel recommendations.

Red Cross Advance Gifts Over $3,000

The Advanced Gifts Committee for the 1977 Red Cross Fund Drive announced a total of $3,174 in cash and pledges received, according to Holmes Ellis, chairman.

This is the largest amount collected in the advanced gift efforts in recent years, Ellis said. Members of the committee were Joe Dick, Glenn Doran, Leonard Vaughn, David Dickson, and Ellis.

Other solicitors are now contacting businesses, civic organizations, educational groups, and individuals in an effort to reach the $10,064 goal for chapter operations for the coming year.

Activities maintained for the community are service to military families, assistance in veterans claims, disaster, classes in First Aid, Water Safety, Expectant Parents, CPR, and other regular and emergency services.

Council Faces Short Agenda

The Murray Common Council will be faced with a relatively short agenda at its regular session Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Items scheduled to be discussed include the second reading of ordinance 636 establishing an affirmative action plan for the city and bids on new vehicles for the Murray Police Department.

Leah Fulton Hart To Be Representative Of Local Club

Leah Fulton Hart will represent the Murray Business and Professional Women's Club as "Young Career Woman" at the district meeting of the B. & P. W. Club to be held Sunday, March 20, at Fulton.

Mrs. Hart is presently employed by the State of Kentucky as rehabilitation counselor for Deaf and Hard of Hearing People in 18 counties in Western Kentucky, and is also part time instructor teaching sign language at Murray State University.

The Murray woman is married to Terry Hart and they reside at 1005 Main Street, Murray. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fulton of Murray.

Mrs. Hart received her B. S. degree in 1975 with a major in rehabilitation counseling in social work at Murray State University. She is presently working toward a Master's degree in Guidance and Counseling, and is a member of the National Association of Rehabilitation Counselors.

Forestry Incentives Program Helps Farmers Planting Trees

The Kentucky Division of Forestry has reminded landowners that the federal government has set up a program to assist farmers and landowners in tree planting and timber stand improvement. Richard Hane, Kentucky Division of Forestry urged landowners "to take advantage of this program which is known as the Forestry Incentives Program to establish or improve their woodland."

"We are only a few months away from our spring planting seasons and this is a good time to consider planting trees on any of your abandoned fields or hill land or any land which is better suited to timber production," Hane said. The Forestry Incentives Program was set up to assist landowners in paying for tree planting. This program will pay 75 per cent of the cost of tree planting and preparing the area for planting, Hanes pointed out.

"The Kentucky Division of Forestry has a full staff of foresters who are trained to provide you with the help and information that you need for a successful planting," Hane added. "We can determine which species of trees is best suited to your particular soil and terrain and your needs.

"The F.I.P. program can also assist in improving the stand quality and species composition of an existing woodland by removing vines and undesirable trees," he said. "Again, the Forestry Incentives Program can pay up to 75 per cent of the cost for this timber stand improvement. Our foresters will guide you and outline the work needed in your woods.

"A productive and managed woods can bring you a valuable income, increase wildlife and recreational benefits, improve the watershed capacity of the land, and protect our soil from erosion.

"Ask the Division of Forestry to assist you in your woodland needs and help our national economy by increasing our timber supply. Remember - wood is a renewable natural resource," Hanes added.

For further information concerning the Forestry Incentives Program or woodland management, contact the Calloway County Ranger, Albert "Took" Wilson at 436-2152, or stop in at the local A.S.C.S. Office. Persons can also contact the Kentucky Division of Forestry, 304 W. Walnut, Mayfield, Kentucky or call 247-3913.

Rev. Davenport To Speak Wednesday At UCM Luncheon

The Rev. Stephen Davenport III, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church will speak at this Wednesday's United Campus Ministry luncheon.

Davenport will present his views on "Church and Society in Guatemala" based on his recent trip to Guatemala City. There he participated in a work camp rebuilding schools, churches, and houses which were destroyed in the 1976 earthquake.

A member of the UCM staff, the Rev. Davenport has been an active citizen of the Jackson Purchase. His involvement includes regional, local, and university projects.

The 12:30 luncheon is held each week at 202 N. 15th Street. Cost of the meal is $1.25 and all persons are welcome to attend, a spokesman said.

State Police Association Organizational Meeting Set

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky State Police Professional Association, the core of a growing controversy within the state, will hold its organizational meeting Thursday.

The focus will be on the direction the association will take and the members of the state police eligible for membership.

Spokesmen said that by the time of the session at Lexington, about 450 persons will have paid part or all of the $50 initiation fee.

"That would be about half of the uniformed personnel, and one of the topics at the meeting will be whether to allow about 100 dispatchers—who do not wear uniforms—to join the new group.

The main agenda is the bylaws, one of which says:

"The KSPPA will not tolerate nor take part in any strikes, work slowdown or any other illegal activities that would destroy the state police image in the eyes of the citizens of the Commonwealth."

A newsletter to the membership said any such tactics "would certainly destroy the integrity of this association."

The association claims it is not in an adversary role "to anyone in a command position, but was formed to improve professionalism, instill fraternal feeling and protect members from arbitrary employment practices."

That is in part a veiled reference to the recent wholesale transfers of officers and troopers around the state, a move which association leaders suspect was punitive action against the organization.

State Police Commissioner Ken Brandenburg has said he does not see the need for an association that would have input in the agency's policies. He has denied the shakeup is related to the association.

Association representatives said Brandenburg has refused to meet with its steering committee—although he has met with individuals—because of the recognition such a conference would imply.

The newsletter, with no signatures or names, said:

"We are and will be a professional association dedicated to our collective career interest whether it be retirement—benefits, fringe benefits and a realistic policy on pay that does not include long-suffering dry spells."

"We would be a much more effective voice as a well-informed professional association than as disgruntled individual employees voicing gripes and living on rumors."

The newsletter said that in keeping with the state police image, "there will be absolutely no party atmosphere at the meeting" in a Lexington motel.

"We will have a sober, exemplary meeting and if anyone comes with other than those intentions, he will be turned away at the door," it said.

The letter said the association hopes by next Jan. 1 to have payroll deductions for yearly dues.

The Thursday meeting will not be open to news media, association leaders said, but the newsletter did not take up that point. Proxy votes will be allowed on the question of dispatchers' membership.

"Keep in mind that some dispatchers have given us a great deal of support at some risk to their jobs," the newsletter said.

"If there have been any opposed it is probably due to their fear that once again they are going to be excluded and considered villain employees," it said.

Retail Sales Here Total $115 Million

Over $17 Million Increase Reported In City During '76

Retail sales in Calloway County increased to $115 million in 1976 reflecting an average increase of approximately 10 per cent over 1975 in nine business categories included in the Murray Chamber of Commerce's annual Business Barometer, released today.

Retail sales in the city of Murray alone increased by over $17 million from 1975 to 1976, jumping from $88,164,000 in 1975 to $105,589,000 last year.

Total retail sales for Calloway County, according to the barometer, amounted to $114,904,000 during 1976. Projected sales for 1977 in the county as a whole amount to $126,437,000. The projection for Murray is $117,125,000 for the current year.

Assets of local financial institutions increased by almost $18 million during 1976, from $138,943,000 to $156,776,000.

Postal receipts surpassed the previous record of $609,563 set in 1974 by more than $200,000 in 1976. Those receipts, which fell to $605,457 in 1975, leaped to $810,000 during 1976.

Cleo Sykes, assistant postmaster at the Murray office, said that a portion of the increase in receipts could be attributed to the increase in postal rates that went into effect last year but that a greater portion was due to an increase in mail volume at the local level.

The nine business categories broken down by types of businesses, averaged 10 per cent increases in sales from 1975 to 1976. Jim Johnson, executive secretary of the chamber, who compiled the barometer, said the total retail sales increase amounted to 10.2 per cent.

Comparing this to the rate of inflation of 5.2 per cent for the year, Johnson said, "local retail businesses experienced a net gain of 5 per cent."

Lumber and hardware dealers' sales increased by $1,031,000, from $10,316,000 to $11,347,000 during the year. The 52 food stores included in the survey showed increased sales from $25,597,000 to $28,156,000, an increase of over $2.5 million.

Eleven general merchandise stores reported increased sales of $1.1 million, from $11,004,000 in 1975 to $12,104,000 in 1976. Retail auto sales within the county increased from $34,320,000 in 1975 to $37,752,000 in 1976.

Gasoline dealers showed increased sales of $894,000, up to $9,837,000 while apparel stores reflected an increase of $585,000, to $6,442,000 for 1976.

Furniture dealers increased their sales from $6,454,000 to $7,000,000, eat and drink outlets increased from $8,111,000 to $8,951,000, and drug stores were up from $4,299,000 to $4,749,000.

The barometer estimate of population in the county for 1977 is 31,983. Population in the city is

Leah Fulton Hart To Be Representative Of Local Club

Leah Fulton Hart will represent the Murray Business and Professional Women's Club as "Young Career Woman" at the district meeting of the B. & P. W. Club to be held Sunday, March 20, at Fulton.

Mrs. Hart is presently employed by the State of Kentucky as rehabilitation counselor for Deaf and Hard of Hearing People in 18 counties in Western Kentucky, and is also part time instructor teaching sign language at Murray State University.

The Murray woman is married to Terry Hart and they reside at 1005 Main Street, Murray. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fulton of Murray.

Mrs. Hart received her B. S. degree in 1975 with a major in rehabilitation and a minor in social work at Murray State. She presently is working toward a Masters in Guidance and Counseling. She has membership in the National Rehabilitation Association, National Rehabilitation Counseling Association, and Professional Rehabilitation Workers With the Adult Deaf.

The "Young Career Woman" entrant is a member of the First Christian Church where she is presently service chairman for her mission group, substitute Sunday School teacher for Grades 1 and 2, Board member for 1974-76, and served as assistant youth director 1973-74.

Mrs. Hart will be competing along with other contestants from the various clubs in the district for the honor to represent the District in the Kentucky contest, according to Euphe Ward, Young Career Woman chairman of the Murray B. & P. W. Club.

County School

Board To Meet

The Calloway County School Board will meet in regular session Thursday at seven p.m., according to Supt. Dr. Jack Rose.

Included on the agenda will be payments to Castleberry Associates Architects and Crouch Construction, personnel matters, textbook adoption, the school calendar, approval of cooperative buying agreement with other school districts, and the superintendent's report.

DONATION—The Calloway County Medical Auxiliary has donated $100 for a language development program for the local comprehensive care center. The donation is being made in conjunction with the observance of Doctors Day, which is set for March 30. From left, Pat Holt, instructor in the adult program at the comprehensive care center; Mrs. Prue Kelly, Mrs. Donald Hughes, Mrs. Hal Houston, and Mrs. David Barrett, members of the medical auxiliary.

City School Board To Meet

The Murray City School Board will meet in regular session Thursday at seven p.m. at the board office.

An agenda released today by Supt. Fred Schultz listed several items for consideration, including recognition of Principal Reeves for the discussion of a proposed trip to Washington by the senior American government class; approval of contracts for base bids on the Middle School renovation and consideration of alternates; consideration of textbook committee recommendation; suggested revision of school calendar for 1976-77; recommendation to purchase one school bus for delivery next fall; and personnel recommendations.

Red Cross Advance Gifts Over $3,000

The Advanced Gifts Committee for the 1977 Red Cross Fund Drive announced a total of $3,174 in cash and pledges received, according to Holmes Ellis, chairman.

This is the largest amount collected in the advanced gift efforts in recent years, Ellis said. Members of the committee were Joe Dick, Glenn Doran, Leonard Vaughn, David Dickson, and Ellis.

Other solicitors are now contacting businesses, civic organizations, educational groups, and individuals in an effort to reach the $10,064 goal for chapter operations for the coming year.

Activities maintained for the community are service to military families, assistance in veterans claims, disaster, classes in First Aid, Water Safety, Expectant Parents, CPR, and other regular and emergency services.

Council Faces Short Agenda

The Murray Common Council will be faced with a relatively short agenda at its regular session Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Items scheduled to be discussed include the second reading of ordinance 636 establishing an affirmative action plan for the city and bids on new vehicles for the Murray Police Department.

Hospital Board Discusses Financing Of New Building

The Murray-Calloway County Hospital's board of commissioners took no action at a special meeting Tuesday on financing for a proposed medical office building in anticipation of a meeting next week with a representative of the Farmers Home Administration.

Hospital Administrator Stuart Poston told the board that FHA financing of the project could be obtained at five per cent interest but added that normal procedures for obtaining an FHA loan would probably delay the start of the new building until the spring of 1978. He said construction could possibly start as early as May of this year if a conventional commercial loan were obtained, but that the interest rate on that type loan would range from nine to nine-and-one-half per cent.

The board discussed the possibility of changing the original plan from a three story building to a two-story building, or of building the three story structure but only "shelling-in" the upper floor until such time as it would be needed.

Easter Seal Drive To Be Kicked Off

George M. Huddleston, regional director of the Kentucky Easter Seal Society, will kick off this year's drive in Calloway County.

Huddleston will be guest speaker Thursday at the Murray Rotary Club. He is a past president of Rotary and has served the Easter Seals program for a number of years.

The state-wide Easter Seal Campaign began March 1 and will run through April 10. Chairman of the Calloway County drive is Vernon Gantt, associate professor of speech at Murray State University.

Gantt said today that all principle volunteer positions have been filled and the county campaign is in the final stages of development.

Contributions to the campaign will be used by the Society to provide care and treatment for physically handicapped children and adults throughout the state. All donations made locally or directly mailed to the state office will be credited to the county campaign, according to Gantt.

The goal of this year is to make the 1977 campaign the most successful ever, Gantt said.

Telephone Books To Be Delivered

Murray telephone users will find some welcome changes in their 1977 telephone directory when it's delivered this week, according to Wafford Sautel, local South Central Bell manager.

Murray telephone numbers will be the first listings in the white pages, and the telephone directory will have four columns to a page instead of five.

"Since we began publishing the Purchase Area directory in 1975, we've had several comments from our customers about how the book could be improved to serve the communities," Sautel said. "The changes we're making in the 1977 Purchase Area directory are a result of those comments."

After Murray's telephone numbers, other Purchase Area communities will be listed alphabetically.

All Murray telephone directories should be delivered by March 16. If you don't receive yours, call the telephone company's business office.

Name Of Candidate Spelled Incorrectly

The name of a candidate for Murray City Council was spelled incorrectly in Tuesday's issue of the Murray Ledger and Times. Mrs. Martha Sammons has filed for council from Ward A in the May Democratic Primary here.

Letter Not Libel, Jury Rules Tuesday

A libel suit brought in connection with a letter to the editor which appeared in the Murray Ledger and Times has been denied in Calloway Circuit Court.

The suit, brought against Jimmy Boone by Dr. Harry M. Sparks, alleged that a letter written by Boone was libelous. The letter was written at the time of Sparks' candidacy for the Kentucky Senate in 1975.

A Calloway Circuit Jury ruled Tuesday that there was no libel in the letter, and no damages were awarded.

FIRST AID COURSE—All 32 members of the Murray Fire Department are participating in a first aid course being given by Beverly McElrath, with the Department of Vocational Education. Some personnel in the city street, sanitation, water, gas, and police departments will also receive instruction in the course.

World Day Of Prayer Held Here At Lutheran Church

By Lillian Graves
Church Women United of Murray and Calloway County gathered to observe the Day in the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Women of Palestine, Russell's Chapel and First Christian churches led in the worship service, which reflected the hope that women will "strive together to find ways - familiar and new ways - for 'Love in Action.'"

Mrs. Donald Mueller, World Day of Prayer Chairman, led in the period of Guided Prayer and of Sharing in groups of four or five. The Reverend Ron Hampton sang "There is a Balm in Gilead," accompanied by Mrs. Thomas H. Wilkins as organist.

The Rev. Dr. Bill Whittaker was the speaker for the occasion. He received his doctorate from Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, and is presently minister of the Murray First Baptist Church.

Dr. Whittaker characterized the kind of love encompassed in the theme for the Day "Love in Action" as the product of a relationship with God. He said:

"It is a relationship that strengthens our love. Knowing Him more makes us love Him more, and each other more, and loving each other more makes us love Him more. It is all tied up together in relationships. The love of God is whole and in the shape of a cross. It is vertical, uniting us with God. It is horizontal, uniting us with people.

"It is God's love in us and flowing through us to a world that God loves. It is impossible to love God and hate people. Jesus did not exclude anyone from the scope of His love.

Remember how He dared touch the leper when everyone else had run away. He was scorned and not invited into some places because he had fellowship with sinners. There is no hope for a world divided except we know that kind of love."

"This year church women will translate love into action through grants made to meet the needs of people in the six continents in the following areas: Spiritual growth, community and family services, socio-economic development, education, health programs, human rights, justice, peacebuilding, women's concerns, and hunger in the United States and globally.

Mrs. W. P. Mullins, Jr., president, expressed appreciation to each one who had in any way helped to make the 1977 World Day of Prayer a memorable occasion for Murray and Calloway County Church Women United.

Diabetes Club Hears Dr. Rains

Dr. Darrel E. Rains, ophthalmologist from Hopkinsville, was guest speaker at the Calloway-Marshall Chapter of the Kentucky Affiliate of the American Diabetes Association held Thursday night, March 3, at the First Presbyterian Church, Murray. His topic for the evening was "Current Concepts in Diabetes."

The speaker, who was the Senior Consulting Ophthalmologist at Boshell Diabetic Clinic at the University of Alabama in Birmingham, Alabama from 1972-74, placed particular emphasis on involvement of eye diseases in diabetes and showed slides of the Boshell Diabetic Hospital facilities in Birmingham. He was assisted in the program by eight members of his office staff and in answering questions following his lecture.

Dr. Gerald McCord, Hopkinsville Family Practitioner who is presently president of the Kentucky Affiliate of the American Diabetes Association, was also present. Dr. McCord is originally from Murray.

Jonathan Craig, Lexington, secretary of the Kentucky Affiliate of ADA, also was present for pertinent organizational information. Mrs. Charlotte Sturm, president of the local association, gave a brief resume of future plans and projects for the local chapter.

The local chapter meets regularly the first Thursday of each month at 7:00 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church, Murray.

UK Students Named For Dean's List

Students from Calloway County are among those at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, named to the dean's lists for the 1976 fall semester.

Those named from Calloway County include:

William L. Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fil Boston, 305 North Seventh Street and Gary Lee Sumner, Murray, parents not listed, arts and sciences; Timothy Alan Philpot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Philpot, 813 Sha Wa Circle, engineering; Jeffrey R. Kurth, son of Lloyd S. Kurth, Murray Route Four, allied health; Michele Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bethel Richardson, Murray Route Seven, fine arts; George Rudy Allbritten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Allbritten, 605 Main Street, Sally Clay Matarazzo, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. M. Matarazzo, 1602 Keenland Drive, and Jennifer Trotter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Trotter, 313 North Sixth Street, business and economics.

"Landscaping Home" Discussed By Larry Bartlett At Meeting

Larry Bartlett, Landscape Architect at Murray State University, presented the program on "The Use Of Plants, Shrubs and Trees for Beautifying the Home" at the meeting of the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club held on Thursday, March 3, at 1:30 p.m. at the club house.

Bartlett said that plants fulfill an aesthetic longing in our lives and at the same time serve a practical purpose in increased use of certain areas and increased value of the property. He clarified graphically his suggestions with drawings simultaneously projected on a wall screen behind him. The speaker explained landscape designing with plants with respect to color of leaf and flower, to form and grow habits, and to leaf texture (coarse, delicate, etc.)

Doris Cella, department chairman, presided and Sophia Sagera, secretary, read the minutes and names tabled for membership to be voted on at the April meeting. Verda McCoy and Clovis Jones are department representatives in the Heart Fund Drive.

Billie Hall said that plants propagated by the Senior Citizens in the greenhouse on the grounds of St. John's Episcopal Church will be available for the use of students at the Comprehensive Care Center in their gardening activities. Myrtle Douglas, Nancy Adairis, Lulu White, and Lillian Graves volunteered to assist with gardening as necessary at the center.

Margaret Vaughn, chairman for flowers for the Convalescent Division of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, asked that department members be generous in contributing flowers from their gardens as the blooming season advances.

Speaker at the Garden Department meeting was Larry Bartlett, Murray State University.

HEARTLINE

HEARTLINE is a service for senior citizens of all ages. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write HEARTLINE, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. Senior citizens will receive prompt replies, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I have worked under civil service for over 20 years now. I fell on the ice and hurt my back badly. I have been off work for two months now and my doctor advises me not to go back to work. Can you tell me if I am eligible for civil service retirement benefits? R. C.

ANSWER: There are four basic qualifications you must meet to be eligible for civil service disability:

1. You must have worked at least five years of civil service.
2. You must, while employed under the retirement system, have become totally disabled for useful and efficient service in the position or any other position of the same grade or class.
3. The disease or injury which caused the disability must not be the result of vicious habits, intemperance, or willful misconduct on your part within the five-year period immediately prior to becoming disabled.
4. You must make application for this before separation from the service or within one year thereafter.

"Low Down"

FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

WANTS ALLEGED PAYOFFS TO CONGRESSMAN AIDED

REP. HAROLD S. SAWYER (Mich.)

"I am today introducing legislation (H. Res. 267, Resolution to establish a Commission on South Korean Influence in Congressional Affairs; to the Committee on Rules.) to establish a bipartisan, independent House Commission with public membership to investigate the South Korean influence in congressional affairs.

"I believe we owe the Nation a comprehensive and swift investigation to re-establish trust and confidence in the ability of the House of Representatives to provide its own housecleaning...

"The resolution will establish a completely bipartisan Commission with 10 Members from the House of Representatives, 5 Democrats and 5 Republicans. In addition, it will allow five public members to insure that persons in position of public trust will be fully investigated. Too often in the past, such serious allegations have been swept under the rug and out of the public scrutiny. I believe the seriousness of the matter demands this unique approach.

"The Commission will be directed to make a thorough and complete investigation of attempts, successful or otherwise, by the South Korean Government, or representatives to illegitimately influence present and former Members of Congress.

"Following its investigation the Commission shall have 1 year to report to the House including: legislation proposals, recommendations for administrative actions in the House and other actions the Commission deems appropriate.

"The entire congressional process has been mocked with the allegations of the potentially deepest corruption scandal ever present in the U. S. Congress. Yet we as a body remain a sitting target because of the inaction

HEARTLINE: I have worked in the railroad industry for over 30 years now. I am 56 years old. Under the new railroad retirement laws, can you tell me when my wife and I can start to draw our annuity? J. F.

ANSWER: Since you have worked under railroad retirement for more than 30 years you will be eligible to retire at age 60 with a full annuity. Your wife will also be eligible for a full spouse's annuity once she turns 60, if you have started your benefits at that time.

HEARTLINE: Last year you made mention in your column about wasteful government spending. You also had an interview with Sen. William Proxmire on the same subject. I haven't seen anything in your column in a long time on this subject. Do you have any new information on wasteful government spending?

ANSWER: Yes. The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) recently spent $46,000 to determine how long it takes to cook breakfast. A report that Heartline received from Senator Proxmire (D-Wis.) explained that this costly study benefits the food service industry but not the taxpayer. The taxpayers, however, footed the bill.

According to the Proxmire report, USDA plans to issue similar studies for lunch and dinner. The total cost of the project will be almost $160,000, says the National Taxpayers Union. Senator Proxmire stated that not a single penny of public funds should have been spent for this purpose.

Agree Or Not New Program Better Than CD

By S. C. Van Curon

FRANKFORT — If you're wondering whatever happened to the Civil Defense Agency, which was put into high gear after the Cuban Missile crisis back during the Kennedy Administration, it is now the Disaster and Emergency Relief arm of the Department of Military Affairs in Kentucky.

The people have long ago forgotten all the local meetings they had in preparations in the event of a nuclear bomb attack from behind the iron curtain. People built bomb shelters. Communities arranged for bomb shelters where possible and stocked them with foods, water, cots and blankets. The federal government shared with states and local communities in stocking these.

A year or so ago, all of the food was turned back to the counties to dispose of because it all became outdated. The food and water had a life of 10 years. The foods, while still edible, had a rancid taste. Water cans began to rust.

The shelters also had medical supplies. These presented a problem. Dope thieves broke into these places and stole the morphine and other sedatives.

Like the fairy tale, the wolf never came, and people tired of the cry of wolf.

Yet, the tornado of 1974 made Kentuckians very aware of emergency situations and the record freeze of this year amply demonstrated the need for disaster emergency relief. The Kentucky arm is headed by Director Robert L. McFerrer in the Military Affairs Department.

The state-wide communications information center is housed here in the Boone National Guard Center and is connected with every State Police Post in the state as well as other information centers.

At the disposal of the Disaster and Emergency Relief arm of government are the National Guard, State Police, Highway Department, Health Departments and other divisions of state government scattered throughout the state.

In the place of the Civil Defense Director, every county is supposed to have a locally appointed Disaster and Emergency Relief director. Some are salaried and some are not.

Under Kentucky Statutes, the county judge is supposed to name a director for his county. This is usually approved by Fiscal Court. Many of these directors are volunteers. Tom Little, public information officer for Disaster and Emergency Relief state headquarters, said here.

Forty-three Kentucky counties participate in the Personnel and Administration Program which has federal funding on a matching basis. This is not sufficient to make a significant program at all levels, Little

Let's Stay Well

Helping Child Adjust To Baby Sitter

Q. Mrs. H. H. writes for suggestions to help her in managing a babysitter problem with her five-year-old daughter. She gets very upset and panics when she is left with a babysitter at home. The same thing happens when she is taken to church school and to kindergarten.

A. Such separation problems are common.

In the case of your daughter, the best approach would be to try to condition her to changes. Here are a few suggestions:

— Use a sitter with whom your daughter is familiar, preferably one she sees and is around fairly frequently. Allow the sitter to play with your daughter.

— Try to use the same sitter each time, if possible.

— Before you plan to leave your daughter (for example, in the evening), feed and bathe her and dress her for bed with the sitter in the room. Remain at home until your daughter is asleep. On the next occasion, while you are at home, let the sitter bathe and dress your daughter for bed, and again stay at home until she is asleep.

— Use every appropriate occasion to build up a confident, affectionate relationship between your daughter and her sitter. Such can be done in casual visits and in making together some small gift for the sitter.

— On the occasion when you plan to leave "on time," have the sitter come an hour early for a play period with your daughter before you go.

— Separations for church school and kindergarten should be started as soon as your daughter has become adjusted to being with a sitter at home. You may have to make a few visits with her until she is more confident and adjusted to each new situation.

These stages of conditioning should require only a few weeks and will never have to be repeated once your daughter is on her own.

Avocado and Cholesterol
Q. Ms. C. J. wants to know if the oils in avocado contain significant amounts of cholesterol.

A. Cholesterol is absent in oils from plants and vegetables, including avocado. Like nuts, avocado is a good source of cholesterol-free fat. Of course, such foods are high in calories.

MISS MSU SEMIFINALIST — Jana Lynn Jones of Murray, a junior theatre arts major at Murray State University, will be among the 15 coed semifinalists when the curtain opens on the 10th annual Miss Murray State University Scholarship Pageant Saturday, March 26, at 7:30 p.m. The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald E. Jones, Miss Jones is sponsored by the Sock and Buskin drama club. She has been active in many major productions in University Theatre and is a member of the Sock and Buskin drama club. For the past three summers, Miss Jones has participated in "Twilight Cabaret," a summer show at Kentucky Dam Village. The Murray State pageant is a preliminary for the Miss Kentucky Pageant to be held in Louisville in June. Serving as mistress of ceremonies for the university pageant is Miss Kentucky of 1976, Vicki Harned, a former Murray State student.

Members Named To Task Force

Six new members have recently been appointed to the task force on alcohol and drug abuse by Peter Conn, secretary of the Department for Human Resources. The task force is an arm of the health services council which advises the department.

The new members are: Helen Ashworth, Ashland; Alvin Seals, Lexington; Dennis Simpson, Louisville; Dr. William Stodghill, Louisville; Merita Thompson, Richmond; and Dr. Lolita Weakly, Louisville.

They join members Vealor Logan, Barbourville; James Overby, chairperson, Murray; and Dr. Robert Straus, Lexington.

"We are pleased that the task force will now be able to operate with a full complement of members. This will meet the March 1 deadline set by the federal government for the task force to be complete," said Joan Riehm, executive assistant to Conn. Ms. Riehm is in charge of communications and council affairs.

The first alcohol and drug abuse task force meeting with full membership is scheduled for 7:30 p. m., April 12, in the Bureau for Health Services building of the Department for Human Resources, 275 East Main.

NIT First Round Opens With Illinois State Grabbing Win

By MIKE FOWLER
Associated Press Writer
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) —

Illinois State rediscovered basketball after a full half of its first post-season game. Now, says Coach Gene Smithson, bring on the best. The towering Redbirds, cold after a 10-day layoff, sputtered through the first half but surged back and whipped Creighton 65-58 in a mistake-riddled first-round National Invitational Tournament game Tuesday night.

Illinois State won a berth in the NIT quarter-finals at New York next week. Smithson, whose team's 22-6 record includes a victory over fifth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, gives his club a good chance in the tournament. "We can play with anybody in the country," Smithson said. "We've proved that. We didn't play a real good game tonight. The layoff hurt us. We weren't sharp."

Illinois turned the ball over 13 times in the first half and missed 25 field goal attempts on the way to a frigid 32 percent shooting average and a deficit of 32-28.

But Creighton was hampered when 6-foot-8 center Rick Apke, its leading scorer, got into early foul trouble. Illinois State mounted a second-half surge when Apke drew his fourth foul shortly after intermission.

Although Creighton pulled within one point on the strength of a 10-point streak by John Johnson, the surge ended when Apke fouled out at 5:57 with the score 53-52. The game ended with a rash of fouls as Creighton tried to break an Illinois State slowdown.

Illinois State was led by 7-foot center Jeff Wilkins, who dominated the boards and finished with 21 points. Johnson had a game-high 22 points, and Apke, who brought a 20.2-point average into the game, had only seven.

Creighton, which edged into the national rankings in the second half of the season, finished with four straight losses and a 21-7 record.

East Tennessee Might Be Playing In Minidome

By The Associated Press

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — East Tennessee State University may finally get to use its minidomed sports complex in time for the 1977 Ohio Valley Conference football season, after some two years of delays.

The state Building Commission Tuesday reluctantly approved release of $665,000 still owed to the minidome's primary contractor, V.L. Nicholson, Knoxville.

The action, under terms of the agreement being supervised by Chancellor Len Broughton of Knoxville, will not affect a series of lawsuits and countersuits for $2.5 million over who is responsible for the more than 100 leaks in the roof of the $8.3 million structure, which is located in Johnson City, Tenn. The trial is scheduled for May 2 and may last about six weeks.

"Are we going to do this knowing that the judge is going to make that building available to East Tennessee State?" asked House Speaker Ned McWherter, a commissioner.

"The question that they're asking is why can't they use whatever's available."

Asst. Atty. Gen. Bill Koch said the lawyer for the contractor, Nicholson, said the builder is willing to tide down the thin aluminum roof temporarily before he gets his money.

Approval of the $665,000 should allow ETSU to use the minidome for the 1977 football season — two years late.

The 12,500-seat dome was completed in the fall of 1975 and was supposed to be ready for use then, but when the leaks appeared in the roof, the state refused to accept the building. The minidome is designed for football, basketball, track and several other sports.

Tigers Withstand Lowes' Rally For 80-76 Victory

By MIKE BRANDON

Ledger & Times Sports Editor
There's a unique way of spelling at Murray High.

It seems Cary Miller doesn't know how to spell "relief." He spells it differently than the way it's spelled on the television commercials when they give you advice on what to do for an upset stomach.

Miller spells relief "B-E-N-C-H."

And because of that bench, what a relief it was Tuesday night in the MSU Sports Arena as Miller's Murray High Tigers avoided a different type of an upset as they posted an 80-74 win over Lowes in the opening game of the First Region Tournament.

Senior starters Lindsey Hudspeth and Raymond Sims played only about half the game because of foul trouble. And it has been said by Miller and other coaches in the Region the key to the success of the Tigers this season has been the bench.

When Hudspeth went out, in came 6-4 Andrea Perry who took over where Hudspeth had left off: writing his name on the top of the backboards.

And when Sims got in trouble, in came Richie Richardson who directed the offense and held the Tigers together in the fourth quarter when Lowes made a furious charge at Murray.

And when senior guard Bill McHugh got in a little foul trouble, sophomore Ed Harcourt came in and did a fine job filling in the gap.

In the first quarter, Murray simply ate up Lowes on the offensive boards. And senior forward Brett Harcourt let it be known in the first quarter that he was hot from the field.

Almost nonchalantly, the Tigers had marched to an 18-13 lead at the end of the first period.

Sims took charge early in the second period, twice in succession coming up with steals. Sims scored on one of the steals and hit Brett Harcourt with a beautiful pass on another.

The Tigers ran and executed the fastbreak to precision.

Murray led by as much as 12 points before taking a 41-31 lead into the dressing room at halftime.

"I think the fact they had played so many games on the floor was an advantage to them," Lowes coach Jim Long said.

"They adjusted to the floor quicker than we did and they really hurt us with the fastbreak. I'm not making excuses for the loss but I felt we should have adjusted to the floor a little sooner ourselves."

"And they just completely dominated the boards in the first half. They had something like a 25-11 lead, according to our statistics," Long added.

With 2:11 left in the third frame, Frank Gilliam hit two free throws and Murray High had a 60-46 lead.

When the Tigers again scored, there was 6:25 left in the game and the basket by Gilliam ended a 10-point

Lowes run which had seen the Blue Devils whittle the lead to four at 60-56.

Then, like fighters exchanging flurries of punches, the game turned around again. Murray High again began pulling out and with 4:29 left in the game, Harcourt hit from under and the Tigers led 73-61.

For almost four minutes, the Tigers did not score from the field. And while the Tigers weren't doing anything offensively, 6-4 junior Jeff Jones took charge of the game for Lowes.

Jones was like a moose, bulling his way under the boards and clearing out everyone in route to a 14-point, fourth quarter production.

When Jones scored his 19th and final points of the evening with 1:10 left, Lowes trailed only 75-72.

Then with 56 seconds left, Harcourt went to the line for the bonus. He missed. But he quickly redeemed himself as he stole the ball and drove to the bucket. Again, he was fouled and this time he hit two free throws to give Murray a 77-72 lead and snap the long pointless span the Tigers somehow managed to survive.

With 33 seconds left, Lowes forward Greg Johnson hit two free throws and it was 77-74. Gilliam was fouled with 24 seconds left and he hit the first free throw to make it a four-point lead but the second one fell off.

However, like Harcourt, Gilliam redeemed himself with a steal and he drove to the basket, hitting with 12 seconds left to make it 80-74 and sew up the win.

"I think Harcourt's steal and the two free throws turned the game around. If we would have converted on the trip when he stole the ball, we might have been able to pull it out," Long said.

"I thought our zone hurt them somewhat but we just couldn't convert on their turnovers. I was really pleased with the job we did on Sims and Hudspeth," Long added.

The Tigers, who usually do not make many turnovers, had 20 floor miscues, however, a lot of those came on charging fouls.

"The foul situation just killed us. We just made too many fouls," Miller said.

"We were in trouble from the first quarter on and a lot of the fouls were silly ones we shouldn't have made. I felt Hudspeth and Perry really dominated the boards in the game."

"Also, Harcourt had a real fine game. His steal and two free throws really saved it for us," Miller added.

The Tigers played a zone defense much of the game and did not press much at all during the game.

"The foul trouble kept us from pressing. With McHugh and Sims both having three fouls in the first half, we were forced to change our game plan somewhat and go with the zone and I felt at times, we sort of stood around a little on defense."

"Lowes just kept making runs at us. But a good team will do that. They have a lot of talent and are certainly a well-coached bunch."

"But I guess the real key was our ability to run in the first half. That allowed us to get the lead out to 10 or 12 points. Our scouting reports said that Lowes would send four people to the boards on offense and so we were able to use the outlet pass and our speed to an advantage," Miller said.

Jones paced Lowes with 19 while Johnson had 18 and high-scoring 6-3 guard Bruce Wyatt had 17. For the Tigers, Harcourt hit for 21 while Gilliam added 19, Perry 18 and Sims 12.

Lowes ends its season with a 24-7 record while the 19-3

Tigers will play Lone Oak at 7 p.m. Friday in the semifinals.

Tonight's 7 p.m. game finds Symsonia playing Fulton City while the nightcap will feature Marshall County and Tlghman.

The boys' action will take a break Thursday as the girls' tourney will continue at Mayfield. Then Friday, the limelight is back to the MSU Sports Arena for the semifinals.

MID-AIR COLLISION—Brent Dreher of Lone Oak smashes into Ralph Akers (31) of Fulton County, or perhaps Akers is the one doing the smashing. The Pilots, who were underdogs, fell 77-73 to Lone Oak in a bruising and physical game. Watching for Lone Oak is star senior forward Tony DeLuna while Ricky Cheirs (54) moves under the bucket for Fulton County.

Lone Oak Rallies For 77-73 Triumph Over Fulton County

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor
David ran out of stones Tuesday night.

And when he did, the inevitable happened. Goliath pounced and David fell.

David was Fulton County. Goliath was Lone Oak. The book is called March Madness.

For 28 minutes, Fulton County kept firing their stones but finally, the sling shot broke and Lone Oak managed to escape with a 77-73 win in the second game of the First Region Tournament at the Murray State Sports Arena.

"We were the underdogs, but we didn't play like it," Fulton County coach Darrell Wilson said.

Underdogs? Why not? The Pilots came into the game with an 11-13 record while Lone Oak was 20-6. One of the Lone Oak wins came January 4 when they crushed Fulton County 81-60 on the Pilots' own court.

"We've been playing real well for the last few weeks. When we beat Murray High, we knew we were capable of playing with about anyone. But we're such a young club and we've been inconsistent. We only have two seniors in our starting lineup, Ricky Cheirs and Joe Jackson, and we sure hate to lose them. They are great competitors," Wilson said.

Cheirs and Jackson weren't the only great competitors. The entire Fulton County team went after Lone Oak like a pack of hungry dogs.

"They sent just about everybody to the boards," Lone Oak coach Albert Norris said.

"They really hit the offensive boards well and they hurt us the whole game. They got a lot of putbacks. Other than that, I thought we played a pretty good game," Norris added.

For 28 minutes, Fulton County played just a little bit better than Lone Oak.

With 4:34 left in the contest, David Wilkins of Lone Oak hit from underneath and was fouled, giving the Purple Flash a 67-65 lead. Wilkins missed the free throw and the Pilots went back down and missed a shot.

Then came the turning point of the game.

At the 4:15 mark, Lone Oak's Barry Tidwell hit a short jumper and was fouled. Fulton County didn't agree with the call and the officials didn't agree with Fulton County's reaction.

The Pilots were hit with a technical foul. Wilkins hit the free throw and it was a 71-65 game.

"The technical really hurt them. It took a lot out of them," Purple Flash coach Albert Norris said.

Wilson said he felt the play was the "turning point of the game."

Three times, the Pilots were able to whittle the margin down to two points, the last time being at 75-73 with only 45 seconds left in the game.

But the "Flash went into a stall and the Pilots were forced to foul Jimmy Houser, who hit nine of 10 from the free throw line, calmly hit both free throws and it was 77-73 and all over.

"We've come a long way in the past few weeks and I felt we played good enough to win," said Wilson, whose team bows out with an 11-14 season record.

"I thought Fulton County was one of the most physical teams we've played all year," Norris said.

"Of course when our big man (6-4 Tony DeLuna) got in foul trouble and had to sit on the bench for some of the first half, we were hurting inside.

"But when he came back in, we were able to work it inside better and I think that was a big key in the win," Norris added.

Another big key was the balanced scoring. Barry Tidwell fired in 21 points while Houser had 17, DeLuna 12 and Keith Montgomery 12.

Besides guts and speed, what kept Fulton County in the game was their outstanding shooting, which fell off a bit in the final four minutes.

The Pilots, who were led by Cheirs' 22 points while Darrell Holder added 18, shot 581 on the night, hitting on 33 of 60 from the floor.

Fulton County outscored Lone Oak 66-56 from the field but Lone Oak hit on 21 of 23 free throws for a .911 mark while the Pilots shot only 12 from the line, hitting seven.

The Pilots, who once led 33-24 midway through the first half, held a 41-40 lead at intermission before being tied at 57 apiece going into the final quarter.

Lone Oak, now 21-6 on the year, will face Murray High in the semifinals of the Regional at 7 p.m. Friday. The winner of that game will play in Saturday's 8 p.m. championship game.

Tonight's play finds heavily-favored Symsonia meeting 5-16 Fulton City at 7 p.m. while in the nightcap, Marshall County and Tilgham will collide.

Subcommittee Continues Hearings on Harassment by Collectors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The same day Anne Caputo of Hoboken, N.J., was told that her husband had terminal cancer, she began getting phone calls from a bill collector about a $200 debt.

The story about the threatening calls Mrs. Caputo received while her husband, Sam, lay dying was told on Tuesday to a congressional panel studying legislation to ban harassment by bill collectors.

The House Banking subcommittee was continuing hearings today with testimony from witnesses in the debt-collection industry.

Mrs. Caputo's brother, Gus De Rocca, told the subcommittee, "She pleaded with the bill collector and explained that (Sam) was dying of cancer and that she would pay as soon as she could. The bill collector was not interested in anything except getting his hands on the money."

De Rocca said he was testifying for his sister because she was too upset by the death of her husband and the harassment from the collector to appear herself. Caputo incurred the $200 debt prior to his marriage, and his wife did not know what the bill was for, De Rocca said.

She could not communicate with her husband about the bill in the last weeks before his death in January because of the advanced state of his throat cancer, De Rocca said.

Nevertheless, Mrs. Caputo promised the bill collector, identified as "Mr. Rogers," that she would pay him later, De Rocca said. She was earning $124 per week and facing large hospital bills at the time, he said.

"Mr. Rogers said to pay the bill by the end of the month or we'll garnish your wages. All she wanted was a little time," De Rocca said.

After De Rocca finished the story, Rep. Millicent Fenwick, R-N.J., former head of the New Jersey consumer affairs division, said, "She doesn't owe one dime on this debt."

She is not liable under New Jersey law because Caputo contracted the debt before their marriage, said the congresswoman.

The subcommittee also heard testimony from former bill collectors who said collection agencies try to generate fear in debtors. They said a standard technique is to threaten garnishment of wages and other legal action if the debt is not paid.

William R. Mann of Suitland, Md., said, "With only a few exceptions, and I want to emphasize the word few, I have never heard of an honest or reputable collection agency."

Deaths and Funerals

James E. Kimbro's Funeral Services Planned Thursday

The funeral services for James Edison Kimbro of Murray Route Four will be held Thursday at two p. m. at the Sinking Spring Baptist Church where he was a member with the Rev. Lawson Williamson officiating and the Church Choir providing the music and song service.

Pallbearers will be Virgil Knott, Bobby Hutson, Davis Kimbro, Hugh Kimbro, Gerald Paschall, and Mike Hutchens. Burial will be in the Barnett Cemetery with the arrangements by the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home where friends may call.

Mr. Kimbro, age 60, died Tuesday at 10:20 a. m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was a veteran of World War II and a farmer. Born November 4, 1916, in Calloway County he was the son of the late Ocus Kimbro and Laura Ann Buchanan Kimbro.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Vida Mae Hutson Kimbro, to whom he was married on April 6, 1935; two sons, Lonnie Kimbro, Murray Route Four, and Gary Kimbro, Lombard, Ill.; two sisters, Mrs. W. P. (Mary Frances) Hurt, Murray Route Four, and Mrs. Bobby (Geneva) Hutchens, Wheaton, Ill.; two brothers, Cecil and John Walter Kimbro, Murray Route Four; one grandson, Roger Kimbro.

Mrs. Paschall Dies At Age Of 90 With Rites On Thursday

Mrs. Cordie Paschall, 90 year old resident of Hazel Route One, died Tuesday at 8:15 p. m. at the Westview Nursing Home.

The deceased was born July 7, 1886, in Graves County and was the daughter of the late William Francis Sims and Jane Wetton Sims.

Mrs. Paschall is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Connie Wilson, 816 Hurt Drive, Murray, and Mrs. Merl Baker, Hazel Route One; six grandchildren; twenty-one great grandchildren; twenty-three great great grandchildren; several nieces and nephews.

She was a member of the South Pleasant Grove United Methodist Church where funeral services will be held Thursday at two p. m. with burial to follow in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the Max Churchill Funeral Home after two p. m. today (Wednesday).

Funeral Rites Are Held Here Today For Mrs. Andrus

The funeral for Mrs. Lectra Andrus of 1618 Miller Avenue, Murray, was held this morning at 10:30 at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with the Rev. Dr. Bill Whitaker officiating and Gus Robertson, Jr., as soloist.

Pallbearers were Hollie Aldridge, Billy Ray Roberts, Purdon Lovett, Marvin Harris, J. B. Burken, Sam Motheral, Alvis Jones, and Hugh Oakley. Burial was in the Beech Grove Cemetery.

Mrs. Andrus, age 74, died Monday at 4:30 p. m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. Her husband, Grover Andrus, died in 1944. She was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Donald (Alta Fay) Simmons, and two grandsons, Kurt and Karl Simmons, Springfield, Mo., and two sisters, Mrs. Maude Wilson, Sedalia, and Mrs. Rena West, Farmington.

Guy Lash Dies At Hospital Tuesday

Guy Lash, former Murray businessman, died Tuesday afternoon at Lourdes Hospital, Paducah. He was 75 years of age and a resident of 111 South 13th Street, Murray.

The deceased operated Lash's Barbecue Restaurant on West Main Street for many years. His wife, Mrs. Lottie White Lash, died in 1965. Mr. Lash was a member of the Seventh and Poplar Church of Christ. Born December 27, 1902, in Illinois, he was the son of the late Eber Lash and Susan Spade Lash.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Harry (Anna Bell) Russell, 1008 Poplar Street, Murray; two sons, Teddy Lash, Pataskala, Ohio, and Charles Lash, Richmond; ten grandchildren; one great grandchild.

The J. H. Churchill Funeral Home will be in charge of the funeral arrangements which are now incomplete.

Services Are Today At Local Chapel For Tina Shelton

Funeral services for Miss Tina Elizabeth Shelton, age ten, will be held today at 3:30 p. m. at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with the Rev. Dr. Bill Whitaker officiating. Mrs. Vernon Shown will be soloist and Mrs. John Bowker will be organist.

Pallbearers will be John Hina, Lloyd Hasty, Gerald Carter, David McMullin, Jerry Crider, and Willie Jackson. Burial will follow in the Murray City Cemetery.

The little girl was pronounced dead on arrival at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital after being injured in a one car accident on North 16th Street Extended on Monday at 9:10 p. m. She was a fifth grade student at the Murray Middle School and attended the First Baptist Church.

Survivors are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Shelton, and one brother, Bill Shelton, Murray Route Two; grandparents, Mrs. Dewey Shelton and Mr. and Mrs. Clint Pruett, Aberdeen, Miss.

Insurance Rate Hikes Are Requested By Large Company

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The biggest single auto insurer in Kentucky says that if its new rates are approved, it will mean a $15.30 average annual raise for more than 300,000 policyholders in Kentucky.

Meantime, the state Insurance Department took the case under advisement.

State Farm actuary Jerry Hillhouse said at the Insurance Department hearing that rates would go up for only three coverages he said are losing money.

The company wants to raise rates 26 per cent for personal injury protection coverage, 24 per cent for comprehensive and 22 per cent for collision.

The personal injury portion is known as no-fault, under which a policyholder's company pays for injuries regardless of who was negligent in an accident.

The story State Farm recited was much the same as the one Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey heard earlier this year in the first no-fault rate filing: the size of the average claim paid by the company has gone up sharply.

Two State Farm representatives testified, and no one for the public.

Father Of David Wright Dies At Terre Haute, Ind.

Emmett M. Wright, father of David Wright of Murray, died Tuesday at Terre Haute, Ind., where he resided.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Martha Wright, Terre Haute; two daughters, Mrs. Jané Myers and Mrs. Barbara Sturgeon, both of Terre Haute; three sons, David of Murray and Paul and Robert of Terre Haute, Ind.; two grandsons, Larry Wright of Mayfield and Randy Wright of Murray.

The funeral will be held Friday at two p. m. at the Riley Chapel of the Bedimo Funeral Home, Riley, Ind.

Over $17 Million Increase

estimated at 17,017.

The barometer reports that 4,783 students are enrolled in elementary and secondary schools in the two school systems serving Murray and Calloway County. Those systems employ 240 teachers making a student-teacher ratio of 20:1. Murray State University reports a total of 8,030 students at the campus plus 320 at Eagle University at Fort Campbell. The student-teacher ratio at MSU is also 20:1, with 416 teachers listed there.

Electric power usage and water consumption in the city and county both experienced drops from 1975 to 1976.

Bill Barker, superintendent of the Murray Electric System, said that the drop in power consumption was due partly to the Tappan plant being shut down throughout the year due to a strike and partly to continued energy conservation of consumers.

John Trotter, superintendent of the Murray Water System, said that the Tappan shutdown was also partly the cause of the decrease in water consumption. Trotter also said that the summer months were not as hot and dry as normal and consumers did not use as much water on their lawns and gardens.

The use of propane gas increased dramatically from 1975 to 1976, mainly because of the short supply of natural gas locally. Only 1385 persons were using propane in 1975 compared with 3193 in 1976.

Telephone stations (actual phones in use) increased by more than a thousand during the year, jumping from 15,428 in 1975 to 16,602 in 1976. "This is a sign that the economy locally is continuing to strengthen," Wafford Sautel, local South Central Bell business office manager said.

The city's parking meter revenue was another area that reflected an increase, jumped from $16,617.76 in 1975 to $22,716.40 during 1976.

Average income per household, based on a total income of $122,116,000 for Calloway County, was listed as $12,605 for the county. Within the city, which showed a total personal income of $65,057,000 for the year, averaging $14,039 per household.

The local tax assessment was down slightly from the $283,134,569 reported in 1975 to $282,755,901. Johnson attributed the major portion of that decrease to the increase in the homestead exemption from $6500 to $7700 for persons over the age of 65.

Another significant factor pointed out in the survey was that even with Tappan shut down during the year, the number of rail cars coming in to Murray still increased.

Hospital. . .

Estimated cost of the completed three-story structure is $1.85 million. The two-story structure could be built for an estimated $1.2 million.

Poston reported that the two-floor building could accommodate a maximum of 16 to 18 physicians. He also said that one-third of the cost of the three floor could be saved by shelling it in at this time and completing it later.

The board also approved an agreement between the hospital and National Health Search, Inc. (NHS) for the purpose of recruiting doctors to the local community. The agreement calls for NHS to find doctors in four specialties that could be recruited to move their practice to Murray. NHS will be looking for doctors with specialties not presently found among local physicians. "We definitely need an orthopedic surgeon and an ENT (ear, nose and throat) specialist," Poston said.

Under the contract, NHS will recruit up to five physicians in four different specialties.

Rosalyn Carter Offers Advice Readily

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Carter is weighing some important policy decision, he doesn't have to ask his wife for her advice.

"I tell him what I think," says First Lady Rosalynn Carter.

In an exclusive interview Tuesday, the First Lady also said she disapproves of couples living together without being married because "I'm kind of old fashioned about things like that."

She said she wouldn't hesitate to send one of her children to a psychiatrist if necessary, and that she hopes her daughter, Amy, will receive sex education both at home and at school.

And she doesn't serve liquor at the White House, she said, because "I just don't want to. Not for religious reasons. I just don't want to. Besides, I'm saving the taxpayers' money."

In her first interview since becoming First Lady, Mrs. Carter offered a glimpse into her family's new life, her goals and dreams.

Sitting behind a cluttered desk in her small quarters on the opposite side of the White House from her husband's grand Oval Office, Mrs. Carter cupped her chin in her hands and talked for some 40 minutes about both foreign policy and personal concerns.

Mrs. Carter, who has an interest in mental health programs, said no one in her immediate family has had psychiatric care, but if one of her children needed it, "I'd seek it for them. Of course, I would."

As for 9-year-old Amy's sex education: "I hope we can talk to her at home. I hope she'll get it at school. I think it's very important, but I haven't thought about what age it should begin."

She said that even if criminal penalties for smoking marijuana were removed, she wouldn't want her family or friends to use it "because not enough research has been done to see how harmful it is."

And if someone were to light up in the White House?

"I would disapprove," she said.

The President said last week that the taxpayers are not paying for the Carters to live in the White House and Mrs. Carter expanded on that. "Every bit of food that is served to the family and to our guests is paid for out of our personal funds," Mrs. Carter said.

She added that the Carters pay for their clothes and such items as dry cleaning, but said she has no idea how much the family spends a week for food. She still hasn't received her food bill for February.

"We eat things like ham and turkey casserole," she said. "And today (daughter-in-law) Annette asked if we could have spaghetti one night. We don't eat steak and roast beef every night."

Asked if the Carters are supporting their two married sons and their families, Mrs. Carter said, "Jeff helps pay for everything. Chip works part-time for the Democratic National Committee, and Jimmy pays Chip out of his personal funds because he needs him. Chip's a great help. We give him a check every month. Jeff and Annette have worked and saved money, and they use their own money. We pay for food."

Jeff Carter, 24, is a student at George Washington University. And Chip Carter, who will be 27 next month, makes about $8,000 at the Democratic headquarters. His wife, Caron, had a baby this month.

Mrs. Carter said her goal as First Lady is "for every person who needs mental health care to be able to receive it close to his home, and to remove the stigma from mental health care so people will be free to talk about it and seek help. It's been taboo for so long to admit you had a mental health problem."

As honorary chairwoman of the President's mental health commission, she plans to travel around the country meeting with professionals, parents of mentally afflicted children and possibly patients.

Mrs. Carter will continue to lobby for passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, but she is not sure if it will become law. "If it's not ratified, I guess we can get it introduced again and start over. But it's so discouraging," she said.

Asked how she can ask the news media to ignore Amy, then take her places where she will be in the public eye, Mrs. Carter snapped:

"She has always been in the public eye. Amy was three when Jimmy was elected governor. We took her everywhere with us. She often hated to go, but we'd let her take a book. She doesn't pay any attention to the publicity. She doesn't read newspapers; she doesn't watch the news, and she has learned to ignore reporters."

Mrs. Carter said her daughter doesn't receive an allowance and that her responsibilities include picking up her toys and her books.

"We let her go to state dinners because we like her to be with us. We don't make her go. She always says she doesn't want to, then when she sees me putting on a long dress, she decides she wants to put one on, too," Mrs. Carter said.

Commissioner Suggests Using Bank That's Most Convenient

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — It's hard enough for an expert to tell whether a bank is in sound financial shape, says state Banking Commissioner John Williams.

His advice to the average depositor is don't try.

"I'd select the one that's most convenient for me," Williams said in a recent interview. "As far as the public is concerned, there's no telltale sign by which a layman can know" if a bank is financially sound.

"Even the published bank statement is no good unless it's read in conjunction with a confidential report" submitted to the state Department of Banking and Securities, Williams said.

But the average depositor doesn't have to worry because all but one bank in Kentucky insures its deposits up to $40,000 through the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC).

Insurance for Kentucky banks is optional, although 99 per cent have it. The one bank that isn't insured—the Farmington Bank in Graves County—is financially sound, Williams said, so depositors don't have to worry about their money being insured there.

Only one Kentucky bank has failed in recent years—the Mt. Zion Bank, which was closed by the state last June.

Of 250 depositors at the Grant County bank—then the state's smallest—only one had an account in excess of $40,000.

Williams said he withdrew the bulk of his deposits before the bank went into receivership, "so nobody was hurt."

All depositors have been paid back, Williams said, but it will probably take the FDIC another couple of years to collect on the bank's outstanding loans and wrap up other loose ends.

Williams said it's always possible that another bank could fold in Kentucky, although currently the agency's examination of banks looks good, with the exception of "a few banks with management problems."

"It could happen again, but people won't get hurt financially," he said. "Once you put the sign on the door that they're insured, from the depositors' standpoint, that puts them all on a par."

Williams said serious problems generally occur when banks change ownership and the new owners mismanage affairs. He said it can happen so quickly that a bank is in financial trouble before the banking examiner makes the first visit.

"Nationwide, that's where most of the bank failures occur," Williams said.

When the state Banking and Securities Department is unfamiliar with individuals taking over a state bank, a closer tab is kept on the new owners, he said.

"Frankly, where we don't know the individuals, we're going to watch them a lot closer—that's a priority," Williams said.

He would like to have more authority to regulate change of ownership of banks, but said before he proposes any legislative change he would discuss the matter with the Kentucky Bankers Association.

The Baltimore Department of Health, first set up by the Committee of Health in 1793, is the oldest such permanent municipal body in America.

PUBLIC NOTICE

THE NEW SOUND of contemporary country music is WKYQ-FM93. This is the station that you folks in Murray say you've wanted. A station that is spontaneous, informative, light hearted... but... but... our talk never gets in the way of the most unique blend of contemporary country music you've ever heard. If you haven't gotten the "Q" habit yet, then do your musical ears a favor and tune in WKYQ-FM93.

Journalism In Austria

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the first in a series of three articles written by Murray State University students who attended the Murray State in Bregenz, Austria Institute during the past summer.)

By JAMES C. WILLIAMS

One of the highlights of our eight weeks stay in Austria this past summer was the unusual experience of interviewing three Austrian newspaper editors. The interviews comprised part of a directed study course in the German language which was conducted by Dr. Milton Grimes, director of the Murray in Bregenz, Austria Institute, and German instructor at Murray State University.

Austria is somewhat the same size and shape of the state of Kentucky and has nine states. The state in which we lived for several weeks was the state of Vorarlberg, which is about the size of the Jackson Purchase area of Kentucky.

There are three newspapers in the state and all three are located in the harbor town of Bregenz. This lovely city of 25,000 is located on the east end of Lake Constance, or the Bodensee as it is known in Austria.

The three papers serve the entire state. This was the first big difference we noticed in the journalistic field in Austria. Here in America, almost every small city has its own newspaper.

Here are the three newspapers with a thumbnail sketch of each:

"The Vorarlberger News," printed daily except Sunday. Circulation 46,000 each day with 49,000 on Saturday (the big paper of the week). Printed on an offset press. This is the largest paper in the state and is about twenty-five years old. The chief editor is Professor Dr. Franz Ortner (the Teutonic people seem to like lengthy titles).

"The New Vorarlberger" is the second paper, printed on a rotary press, not offset, however the quality of printing was excellent. This daily paper is five years old and was started to give the other newspaper some healthy competition. It has a circulation of 36,000 and the Culture Editor, with whom we spoke, is Herr Rudolf Gruber.

The third newspaper involved is "The People's Voice," the communist newspaper which is printed in Vienna, Austria and is distributed over the nation. About 60,000 copies are printed for distribution. This paper too is offset. We spoke with the editor for Bregenz, Herr Reinhard Farkas.

It seemed that editors in Austria are very busy, and it was with some difficulty that we finally obtained appointments for the interviews. The only exception was the communist newspaper which granted the interview on our first visit. All the newspapers appeared to be highly departmentalized, well organized and well staffed. The communist paper is not printed in Bregenz, therefore had a minimum staff and no printing facilities.

There seems to be no problem with newsprint, the paper that newspapers are printed on, and it appeared to be more economical in price. The format of the papers is different. For instance entire sections of the larger papers, such as "The Kurier" in Vienna, contained nothing but advertising. Here in America, news is generally spread throughout the paper in an effort to make advertisements more readable. We found no society news as such, no large grocery, furniture, or clothing store ads, but a large number of classified ads and classified display ads. The smaller papers such as the two local ones noted above, carried death notices that were from one-eighth page to a full page in size, depending on the prominence of the person involved and the amount of money the family wished to spend. Sports, especially soccer, are well covered.

We asked all the three editors the same questions and for the sake of clarification, we will refer to the editors of the two regular newspapers, "The News" and the "New Vorarlberger" as the regular editors and to the editor of the communist newspaper "The People's Voice" as the communist editor. Incidentally, the communist newspaper carried few advertisements since its principal reason for existence is to spread the doctrine of the communist party.

The interviews were conducted in the German language with the exception of the communist interview. In this one we asked the questions in German but the editor insisted on answering in English. We had the strange feeling that he thought our German was of such a quality that he wanted to make sure he was understood. Ironically enough, we had to supply him with some English words from time to time, when he could not bring them readily to mind.

We have selected the questions from the interviews which we feel will better illustrate the similarities and differences in American and Austrian journalism, while at the same time presenting the outlook of the communist editor toward our questions.

Question One: Do you have freedom of the press?

Regular editors: Yes we do. It is about the same as in the United States. We can criticize the actions of public officials, do investigative reporting, and in fact, have all the freedoms Americans have. Communist editor: Not in reality, because this freedom is all tied in with money. Money is the deciding factor. If you have enough finances, then you can achieve what you wish. If you do not have the money, then you have no freedom of the press.

Question Two: What is your interpretation of the meaning of freedom of the press?

Regular editors: It is a democratic function. It means the freedom of opinion, the freedom of information, the freedom to know. A person can write as he wishes (within the law) and what he wishes, and he can read what he wishes.

Communist editor: Freedom of the press depends on liberty. Now this liberty is not what you want or I want, but what is good for the masses. Freedom of the press should be used to explain what is of interest to the workers. (When we posed the question if there is freedom of the press in communist countries, he answered "Of course. We print everything that is important. Unimportant things are not printed." We had the feeling that an individual's opinion of government, taxes, oppression, police brutality, etc. were among the "unimportant things" that were not printed.)

Question Three: Are there laws against libel? All three answered yes, fundamentally the same as in the US.

Question Four: Are there any press restrictions whatsoever?

Regular editors: No, we are completely free. There are no government restrictions other than the regular libel laws.

Communist editor: Yes there are restrictions. The government is not of the people, but is composed of small but powerful groups who restrict the papers they do not like.

Question Five: Are libel laws strong, or do they give some advantage to the newspaper?

Regular editors: The politician is almost immune from libel, but the newspaper is very much answerable.

Communist editor: No they are not strong when it comes to printing pornography (presumably bathing beauties, etc.). The laws are not worth too much. When the interest of special groups is at stake, then the laws become strong again. The human element is not considered.

All three editors agreed that errors of fact were corrected immediately and that their respective papers covered all civic and government meetings possible.

Question Six: Do you have difficulty in getting news from public officials?

Regular editors: No, none at all.

Communist editor: Yes. Since the other two papers write for the government, they have no difficulty, but when we call, the person is always out of the office.

Question Seven: Do you believe your newspaper influences the voting of the people or do you seek this?

Regular editors: The purpose of this newspaper is to articulate the issues, print the information. We do not try to formulate opinion in a person, but to bring about the crystallization of an opinion in the mind of the reader. In other words, our purpose is to be independent, to inform, and not be bound by any party.

Communist editor: This does not apply to us because the communist party is the best party and does most for the people. Anyone who runs against the communist party is against the state or the good of the masses. (He accused the other two newspapers of being in the employ of special interest groups.)

Question Eight: Do the people depend more on your newspaper or the television for the news?

Regular editors: People watch television, then read our paper to confirm or verify what they heard. The same with radio. People forget exactly what was said, so turn again and again to their daily newspaper.

Communist editor: The TV is bigger and better than the radio. (We felt that he extolled the virtues of the radio and TV because these media are good for communism, since there is no pre-requisite demanded of the consumer that he be able to read and write. In other words TV and radio could get out the propaganda and even reach people who are unable to read.)

We had many experiences during our eight weeks stay in Austria, but these three interviews probably comprise the most memorable of them. Seeing journalism in action in Austria, especially the type of journalism espoused by the communist newspaper, made us more aware of the priceless heritage we have in our own freedom of the press. Then too we were most pleasantly surprised to find such a high degree of freedom as exemplified by the two regular newspaper editors that we interviewed. On arriving back home, we thanked God for our great heritage, bought and maintained at such a high price.

The city of Bregenz, Austria lies nestled between the foothills of the Alps and Lake Constance, a part of which is in foreground. The pre-alps may be seen immediately behind the city while the snow covered Swiss Alps are in the background. Approximately 37 Murray State University students spent seven weeks in Bregenz this past summer attending the "Murray State in Bregenz" Institute.

Federal Grant Announced By State DOT

The state Department of Transportation (KYDOT) has been awarded a $15,000 federal grant to improve its training program, according to state Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts.

The funds will be used to conduct a five-day workshop-type seminar, primarily for engineers and planners, in late summer.

The seminar will be designed to strengthen the expertise of highway, traffic and planning engineers in the methods and principles of highway capacity analysis.

According to Roberts, 35 to 40 federal, state and local persons will receive the training.

The grant is funded with federal Highway Traffic Safety Administration funds allocated to Kentucky through the KYDOT Office of Highway Safety Programs.

Use Strength and Straight Talk

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old woman who is taking over a prosperous family business started by my grandfather. This is a small town, and my grandfather formed some valuable business relationships with men who are still very important to the success of our business.

The problem is that these "gentlemen" find me quite attractive. So much, in fact, that I have found myself backed up against the wall, hugged, squeezed and generally mauled by these kindly old buzzards, while they keep reminding me that they've been good customers for over four decades.

If these men were my age, I could handle them, but they're all over 65, and trying singlehandedly (and some times doublehandedly) to close the generation gap.

Is there a way to keep this business (and myself) on our feet?

DEAR EDGY: If you're a good businesswoman, you'll keep the business on its feet without tolerating passes from lecherous grandfather types. It may take the technique of an O.J. Simpson or a Tony Dorsett on broken-field running, but that, plus a good straight-arm (and, if necessary, some straight talk) is all you need.

DEAR ABBY: When a guy asks me to dance, how can I turn him down without hurting his feelings? I'm 16, if that makes any difference. Thank you.

DEAR CHICKEN: Say, "Thanks, but I think you'd be more interesting to talk to. Shall we sit it out?" (P.S. Then you'd better have something to talk about, even if it's only a string of questions to keep the conversation moving.)

DEAR ABBY: Right now I am so upset I want to get this off my chest to relieve my own anxiety, and if you print it in your column it will be a big favor to many women.

I am in my eighth month with my first child, and today I had a checkup. Coming home on the bus, I sat next to a motherly looking woman who struck up a conversation with me. She talked about nothing but the horrors of childbirth! She had had six and lost two. Her sister had a child who was born deaf and blind, and her daughter's first child was retarded because of the long and complicated labor she had endured. Then her neighbor's baby strangled on the umbilical cord during the birth process. Abby, by the time I got off that bus I was shaking like a leaf!

Please tell well-meaning (?) women that pregnant women do not want to hear such tales, and if they can't say something cheerful about childbirth to not say anything at all.

DEAR UPSET: You've said it all. And very well. Let's hope it gives those bearers of bad tidings cause to pause.

LRC Names Hellard To Be New Director, April

The Legislative Research Commission (LRC) has named Victor Hellard Jr. of Versailles to be director of the commission when Philip W. Conn leaves the post in April.

Hellard, an attorney and former legislator, will begin work immediately as director-designate. He will become director April 16 when Conn's resignation is effective. Hellard will draw a $34,500 salary.

Conn submitted his resignation to the commission last month. He joined the LRC staff in April, 1972, and was deputy director before being named director in November, 1974.

Hellard, 37, is a graduate of Eastern Kentucky University and earned a law degree from the University of Kentucky. He served in the House of Representatives in 1972 and 1974 and was special counsel in the House Speaker's Office during the 1976 regular session and special session.

The LRC is a 16-member committee composed of the majority and minority leadership of the state Senate and House. Its director serves as chief administrative officer of the legislature when it is not in session.

Court Order Could Result In Quarantine On State Livestock

State Agriculture Commissioner Thomas O. Harris announced recently that a court order issued Feb. 23 could result in a quarantine prohibiting the free movement of livestock in Kentucky and severely affecting the state's cattle and swine industry.

"This quarantine would inhibit both entrance and exit of animals, meaning our cattle could not be shipped out, even to surrounding states," Harris said at a Frankfort news conference.

"This action could result in dire circumstances for Kentucky's livestock farmers," Harris commented. He noted it would be a double blow to farmers already devastated by the effects of severe winter weather.

"As a result of a restraining order which has been issued because of a complaint filed by 14 stockyards in Kentucky, the Kentucky Department of Agriculture can no longer supervise testing of animals at livestock facilities in the state. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has stated that action is planned against the state and may result in a quarantine being imposed," Harris explained.

The stockyards are seeking in the court action to halt Kentucky's brucellosis inspection program, which until now was carried out by state inspectors at stockyards.

Harris said Franklin Circuit Court was required to issue the restraining order on the sworn complaint of the 14 stockyards and that attorneys for the state Agriculture Department are in the process of preparing a motion to dissolve the restraining order.

He said a hearing has been scheduled on the matter for March 10 before Franklin Circuit Judge Squire N. Williams.

"With respect to breeding stock — either cattle or swine — the department no longer has the authority to require the identification material which is a prerequisite for their movement and protection of swine herds from hog cholera," Harris said.

The commissioner said there are at least six classifications of animals that could be affected by this restraining order. Breeding and dairy stock, slaughter cattle, feeder cattle, breeding swine, feeder pigs and sheep and goats.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1977

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

recognizes will suit the day and good purpose.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) ♏

Mars, favorable, suggests that you put forth the very best efforts possible, but without overtaxing yourself. Just that one extra try may turn the tide for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) ♐

Because you did not succeed before at what you believed a worthwhile endeavor does not mean you will not now — if it is still worthwhile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) ♑

Matters may get off to a quick start in the a.m. Look carefully over your system, methods; try harder for surer satisfaction. The effort alone will reward.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) ♒

Mixed planetary influences. Right plans and moves at the right times and places will keep you in the lead for gains, with ease of effort.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) ♓

Good Neptune influences favor normal routine, as well as the launching of new enterprises. Deliberate, then act. Try a master stroke.

YOU BORN TODAY are a shy, retiring type, ever avoiding the limelight and often deliberately seeking positions which will keep you out of the public eye. Your nature, however, is one of great intensity and you have a deep love of beauty and the arts. You are introspective and, should you choose music as a career, or composition, this trait would evidence itself in the depths of your work. You probably would not be a great success in the commercial world but any creative outlet for your emotions would bring not only fine accomplishment but great happiness. Birthdate of: Dudley Buck, Amer. composer.
